

GONE BACK ON DEBS.
Galesburg Branch of the A. B. U.
Gives Up Its Charter.

GALESBURG, Ill., July 24.—At the meeting this evening of the local branch of the American Railway Union it was unanimously voted to return to Mr. Debs the charter under which the union has been working for the last month. The reason for this move was that the members here say that matters had been misrepresented to them when the union here was organized and that they want nothing more to do with the American Railway Union. The men also say that their jobs are too valuable at present for them to act at the dictation of Mr. Debs.

In a Small Town.
Cerro Gordo New Era: Yesterday there was a colored individual in town armed with a banjo and wearing a shabby black coat and blonde shoes. He first took a promenade with Mayor Edwards, and then stationed himself at the corner of Madison and South streets. A crowd congregated; all but six of the small boys in town were there; teams which were hauling oats from the country drew near and the drivers waited while their breath came in bicycle trousers; the electric light wagon stopped and Street Commissioner Brady climbed up a step-ladder. Then did the colored man open his box and display a potato peeler, a few bars of soap and an envelope of the best medicine on earth, and there were a few who believed him and exchanged their hard-earned shekels for the mugs to be desired.

President Commission.
Carroll D. Wright, of Massachusetts, and chief of the National Labor Bureau at Washington; Lyman Trumbull, of Illinois, and Daniel Magone, of New York, have been selected by President Cleveland to investigate the great railroad strike, its causes and effect. The selection was made under an act of congress known as the arbitration bill, though, as a matter of fact, there is nothing in the act that empowers them to arbitrate labor differences merely to investigate and report their findings back to the president, and through him to congress if legislation is called for.

Sticks to His Desk.
Telegrams from Washington to the Chicago Record: "There will be very few Illinois representatives at the Republican convention to-morrow. I cannot find that anyone has gone home for that purpose. Senator Culbertson had his ticket and his berth in the sleeping car and had left an order for the baggage wagon to call for his trunk last Friday when the tariff war in the Democratic party broke out, so he sent a long telegram regretting that he was detained."

BILLY FUDGE was returned from Champaign where he prospected for a room in which to display the wonders of the magic trunk and the petrified woman. He thinks he will go over with the show and make a bluff at the town, which he says is a good one, the people appearing to have plenty of the coin of the realm. That is what Manager Fudge is after.

THE TURNER BUND.

Session of the National Convention at Denver, Col.

NEXT MEETING TO BE AT LOUISVILLE.

A Recommendation Protesting Against the Judiciary Bearing Down on the Defenseless Unemployed Promptly
Challenged and Antagonized.

DENVER, Col., July 26.—The turners' convention was called to order by President Pollner at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The committee on gymnastics made a report recommending that any changes that are to be made should be left to the Tschitschung of 1890, as the gymnastic tournament will not take place until 1897.

The committee on national affairs then made their report, and its recommendations were taken up one by one. The first was that the meeting for 1895 be held in Louisville. Turner Liese, of San Francisco, made strong plea for his city, saying there were no ugly girls there, and was followed by delegates from various cities in favor of their respective localities. The vote resulted in 340 for Louisville and 41 for San Francisco.

The mayor of Louisville sent to the convention a letter which was read containing a hearty invitation to the turner band to meet in Louisville in 1896, guaranteeing them genuine Kentucky hospitality.

The recommendation to have the executive board in St. Louis for the two years ensuing was then brought up and adopted, as was also the recommendation against the introduction of religious subjects in the turner schools.

The recommendation favoring the establishment of bureaus for the purpose of furnishing employment to laborers, and protesting against the judiciary bearing down on the defenseless unemployed was next taken up.

Muench, of St. Louis, protested. He said that none of the unemployed who had come in conflict with the courts had remained undefended by attorneys assigned to them by the court, and he cited particularly the just decision of Judge Grosscup.

Bonne, of Wisconsin, favored the recommendation but wanted it modified. The recommendation was finally referred back to the committee for revision.

Conlin, of San Francisco, spoke at some length recommending the extension of moral support to the Northwestern Mutual Benefit Association, which is a benevolent society composed of turners.

Judge Baker, of Chicago, yesterday afternoon held Mrs. Warren Springer to the grand jury on the charge of attempting to bribe Javors Marman and Slader in the land-condemnation suit of the Metropolitan West Side Elevated Railroad Co. vs. Warren Springer. She was released on $5,000 bonds.

Hutchins, of Milwaukee, also favored this. On a vote the result showed the resolution passed.

A resolution by Turner Wille, recommending a revision of the constitution of the United States to bring it into conformity with the present social conditions was tabled.

The afternoon session opened at 3 o'clock when the committee on committees made their report, which was adopted, naming the members of the committees on platform and constitutional matters of the band; practical turners; educational matters; turners' teachers' seminary; official organ; complaints and revision of finance.

A resolution was adopted commanding the policy of the official organ of the turners.

After hearing the annual report on membership the convention adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning. It is thought this morning's session will complete the labors of the convention. The delegates were entertained at a brilliant ball last night at Turners' hall.

DEEDS OF BLOOD.

A California Kill His Wife and Her Three Nearest Relatives and Attempt Suicide.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 26.—John Craig last night shot and killed his father-in-law, William Hunter, his mother-in-law, Mary Hunter, George Hunter, a brother-in-law, and his wife, Emily Hunter-Craig. Craig drove to Glendale, five miles from this city, where this wife, from whom he was divorced three months ago, was staying with her brother George, and deliberately shot and killed them both. He returned to this city and went to the home of his father-in-law, William Hunter, and killed him. Stepping over the body, he walked to the dining room, shot and killed his mother-in-law. Then he turned the pistol against his forehead and fired two shots, both of which failed to kill him.

He was taken to the police receiving hospital. He will recover. He states that he was horrified by his wife's relatives, and wanted revenge, which he got. He was sorry he had not succeeded in killing himself to complete the whole business.

Craig is prominent in politics. The killing grew out of trouble over a settlement of community property. Craig has borne the character of a tough and desperate mad, with few friends, owing to a quarrelsome disposition.

No Ground for a Duel.

same rooms you see—and then she ate less 'n a mouse an' took to needle-work, plain an' fancy, for a lot of the gentry's wives round the neighborhood had befriended her, though they had to be sly an' hide that they meant it for a favor, or she'd ha' snapp'd their heads off. An' all the while she was teachin' her boy and tellin' 'em whatever happened, to remember he was a gentleman, an' lovin' em with all the strength of a desolate woman.

"This Willie Pinson was a comely boy too! handsome as old Key, an' quick at his books. He'd a bold, masterful way, bein' proud as ever his mother was, an' well known' there wasn't his match in Tregarick for head-work. Such a beautiful hand writer! When he was barely turned sixteen, they gave 'em a place in Gregory's bank—Wilkins an' Gregory was in those aged times. He still lived hon' w' his mother, rentin' a room extra out of his earnin's and turnin' one of the bedrooms into a parlor. That's the very room you're lookin' at. And when any father in Tregarick had a bone to pick with his son, he'd advise 'em to take example by young Pinson, 'so clever and good, too, there was no tellin' what he mightn't come to in time.'

"Well—a-well, to cut it short, the lad was too clever. It came out, after that he'd took to bein' his employer's money agen the rich men up at the Royal Exchange. An' the upshot was that one evenin' while he was drinkin' tea with his mother in his room, light hearted way, in walks a brace o' constables an' says, 'Willian Pinson, young chap, I arrest thee upon a charge o' counterfeitin' old Gregory's handwritin' which is a hangin' matter!'

"An' now, sir, comes the curous part o' the tale; for, if you'll believe me, this poor woman wouldn't listen to it—wouldn't hear a word o' t' What' my son Willie,' she flames, hot as Lucifer. 'My son Willie a forger; my boy that I have raised an' reared up, an' studied markin' all his pretty takin' ways, since he learned to crawl! Gentleman,' she says, standin' up an' facin' 'em down, 'what mother knows her son, if not I? I give you my word it's all a mistake.'

"Ay, ay, she would have it no other. While her son was havin' his trial in jail, she walked the streets with her head high, scorin' the folk as passed."

"But her greatest freak was seen when the Assizes came. Sir, she wouldn't even go to the trial. She disdained it. An' when that mornin' the judges had driven by her window, same as they drove to-day, what d'ee think she did?

"She began to lay the cloth up in the parlor yonder, an' there set out the rarest meal, ready for her boy. There was meats, roasted chickens, an' a tongue, an' a great ham. There was cheese cakes that she made after a little secret of her own, an' a bowl of junket, an inch deep in cream, that bein' her pet dish, an' all kinds o' knick-knacks, wi' grapes an' peaches an' apricots, an' decanters o' wine, white an' red. Ay, sir, there was even crackers for mother an' son to pull together, with scraps o' poetry inside. An' flowers—the table was bloomin' with flowers. For weeks she'd been a planin' it, an' all the forenoon she moved about that table, givin' it a touch here an' a touch there, takin' a step back to see how beautiful it looked. An' then, as the day wore on, she pulled a chair over by the window, an' sat down an' waited.

"In those days a capital trial was kept up till late into the night, if need were. By an' she called up her little servin' gal that was then, (she's a gran'mother now), an' sent her down to the courthouse to learn how far the trial had got, an' run back with the news.

"Down runs Selina Mary, an' back with wood.

"They're a-summin' up," says she.

"Then Mrs. Pinson went an' lit eight candles. Four she set 'pon the table an' four 'pon the mantel shelf. You could see the blaze out in the street, an' the room lit up wi' the flowers an' fruit, an' shinrin' glasses.

"So the poor woman sat a while longer an' then she calls:

"Selina Mary, run down agen, an' as he comes out, tell 'em to hurry. They must be finished by now."

"The maid was gone twenty minutes this time. The evenin' was hot an' the window open; an' now all the town that wasn't listenin' to the trial was gathered in front, gazin' curiously at the woman inside. She was titivatin' the table for the fiftieth time, en' touchin' up the flowers that had drooped a bit i' the bowls.

"But after twenty minutes Selina Mary came runnin' up the street, an' fetched her breath at the front door, and went up stairs slowly and 'pon tiptoe. Her face at the parlor door was white as paper; an' while she stood there the voices of the crowd outside began to take all one tone, and beat into the room like the sound of waves 'pon a beach.

"Oh, missis," she begins.

"Hallow they finished?"

"The poor sheldah was only able to nod."

"Then, where's Willie? Why isn't he here?"

"Oh, missis, they're going to hang 'em!"

"Mrs. Pinson moved across the room and gave her a little push out into the street. Not a word did she say, but shut the door 'pon her, very gentlelike. Then she went back an' paled the blind down slowly. The crowd outside watched her do it. The manner was quite ordinary. Stood there for a minute or so, behind the blind the eight candlesticks, one by one. By the time the judges passed homeward in the dark, only the blind showed the street lamp opposite. Year to this she has gone whenever a judge drives by.

STATE CONVENTION.

The Republicans Name a Strong Ticket.

Mason Failed to Force the Naming of a United States Senator—The Other Business of the Convention.

When James H. Clark, chairman of the state central committee, wielded his gavel in the hall of the house of representatives yesterday he opened what proved to be one of the liveliest as well as one of the most important Republican state conventions ever held within the borders of Illinois. Thirteen hundred and thirty-five delegates, the flower of the Republican party of this state, filled the spacious chamber from the rear gallery to the rostrum, while the visitors' gallery was packed with interested spectators, many of whom were ladies. It was a splendid and inspiring scene—a magnificent opening of a campaign designed to result next fall in sweeping Republican victories all over Illinois.

When the convention opened there was an element of doubt in the mind of each of the candidates as to what his fortune might be. The safest man on the boards was Henry Wulf, candidate for state treasurer, who had the solid Cook county delegation, amounting to nearly one-third of the entire convention, at his back. But even with this advantage the claims of his competitors, Gen. Smith A. Atkins of Freeport and W. W. Tracy of Springfield, made Wulf's nomination a little uncertain.

The Missionary society of the Presbyterian church will hold its regular meeting at the house of Mrs. Samuel Powers on Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. A picnic supper will be served at 6 o'clock, to which the gentlemen are invited.

The report of the committee on credentials was unanimously adopted, and that the committee on permanent organization reported their choice of ex-Governor Fifor for permanent chairman, and that Fifor was unanimously elected.

The governor made a good speech which was cheered to the echo.

The same committee reported in favor of selecting five members of the state central committee for the state at large. This proposition was voted down.

Senator C. E. Fuller, of Boone county, moved that the convention proceed to nominate a man for United States senator. Miller, of Cook, Chapman, of Jersey, O'Connell, of McLean, protested against such action in forcible speeches, while several delegates supported the proposition. The roll was finally called on a motion to table Mr. Fuller's motion, which resulted in tabling by a vote of 1,019 to 315. Macon county voted solidly in favor of laying on the table. This being disposed of, the committee on resolutions reported a platform which was adopted unanimously without amendment.

Gov. Fifor being unable longer to keep the convention in order, ex-Lieut.-Gov. Ray took the chair and matters moved along more smoothly and systematically.

Nominations being in order, the candidates for state treasurer were named without speeches. The nomination was made on the first ballot which was as follows: Wulf, 756; Tracy, 328; Atkins, 233. The nomination was made unanimous.

George B. Kent, a prominent young man of Kewanee, committed suicide the other morning. He had sold a poultry farm and was unable to find a business opening. This, combined with poor health, made him so despondent that he resolved to end his life. He had made known his intentions, but they were not considered, as it was thought that he would not become so desperate.

The Spencer & Lehman company have the exclusive agency for the celebrated Troy Carriage company's surreys, also for the Henney Buggy company's full line of goods. A full assortment of carriages, buggies, road wagons, etc., constantly on hand. Prices cheap and work warranted.

The building committee of the board of supervisors held a meeting yesterday to act on the bids for building an addition to the poor house. Twelve bids were received, and they ranged from $1200 to $2300. The committee looked them all over but reached no agreement, and the contract was not let. Many of the bids were on certain pieces of the work, and the committee had to have time to figure on them. Another meeting will be held to-morrow morning when the contract will be awarded.

A. McLean, of McDonough county, S. A. Bullard, of Sangamon county, and Mrs. J. M. Flower, of Chicago, were nominated for Trustees of the University of Illinois.

The ticket having been completed Haasten Singleton of this city and E. Morris of Celago were elected as members for the state at large to the state central committee.

It was nearly 9 o'clock when the convention adjourned.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The Republican platform of the State of Illinois reaffirms its belief in the great principles of civil and religious liberty upon which this government was founded, and under which the people have enjoyed unexampled prosperity and happiness, and believing that the restoration of the Republican party to power in the government of the country would promote the general welfare of the people and is the chief condition of renewed prosperity, this convention most respectfully and cordially invites all good citizens, irrespective of political antecedents, to unite in supporting the Republican cause in the next election.

We earnestly maintain the right and justice of the American doctrine of protection to American industries. In raising the government we are in favor of such duties on competing imports as will best tend to the development of the resources of our own country, of the labor of our own people performed at wages which put the comforts of life within easy reach, and secure good prices for the products alike, of our farms, our mines and our workshops; and we believe that articles that cannot be successfully produced in this country, except luxuries, should be placed upon the free list. We further believe that the importation of so-called raw material is unobtainable in our own country. We denounce as untrue and un-American the provisions of the so-called Wilson tariff bill, modified in the senate, as now pending in congress, and we charge the Democratic party with the sole responsibility for the effort to destroy our tariff system, a system which has proven the greatest boon to the great mass of American citizens; and we further declare that the unusual and unnatural conditions now existing in this nation between capital and labor which have led to lawlessness, bloodshed, the interruption of business, and brought misfortune to all, are the natural results of the false economic theories, vacillating policy and hopeless incapacity of the Democratic party, and to remove the evil thus created, restore prosperity and bring health to the body of the people, it is necessary that the Republican party should be restored to power.

We favor bi metalism, and believe in the use of gold and silver as money, with complete inter-convertibility, under such legislative provisions as shall effectually purchasing or debt-paying power of any dollar coined or issued by the United States, the absolute equivalent of that of any other dollar so coined or issued.

We believe in the purity of the ballot and the freedom of elections, and we hold that the true freedom of elections is obtained and secured only by aid under the law.

The Republicans of Illinois are in favor of the largest personal liberty consistent with law and order. We favor the payment of liberal pensions to the soldiers and sailors of the Union, and to their surviving dependents, as a sacred obligation due from the entire people, and we insist that in the allotment and distribution of pension funds technical and burdensome restrictions should not be imposed.

We condemn in emphatic terms the course pursued by the present national administration towards the people of Hawaii in attempting to overthrow a friendly government, re-establish a corrupt monarchy and force upon them a barbarous queen.

We array the present Democratic governor of Illinois as the most conspicuous case of misfit in high official life. From the day on which he began to debate the penal, reformatory, charitable institutions and public parks of the state into infirmaries and asylums for politicians to the present time, he has shown such wonderful aptitude in doing the wrong thing at all times that the people of the state, irrespective of party, await with undisguised impatience the expiration of his term of office.

This convention approves with all cordiality the unwavering fidelity of the entire Republican delegation in congress from Illinois in the maintenance of Republicanism in the house of representatives, and it also returns thanks to Senator Culom for his able, patriotic and vigilant opposition to that monstrous bill of trust legislation, the senate tariff bill.

It is worth its weight in gold. We don't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial bottle at King & Hubbard's drug store.

RUCKER WILL IN COURT.

Judge Vail Asked to Put on Construction on Its Meaning.

In the circuit court to-day Judge Vail is giving close attention to arguments made in connection with the John C. Rucker will, in which very valuable property was bequeathed to Edwin A. Ewing. It is provided in the will as held by the beneficiary that all the property shall come to Edwin A. Ewing in fee simple, the grandson, when he shall arrive at the age of 25 years. He is now past 23 years. He comes into court and asks that the meaning of the will be construed, other parties claiming that the will means only that Ewing, having no children, has only a life interest in the property. Mr. Ewing is represented by W. C. Johns and Cres & Ewing, and the defendants by Outten & Page and I. A. Buckingham. One attorney said that if the decision gives the property to Ewing in fee simple it is worth at least $50,000; if only for life $10,000 will cover the value of the estate. It is probable that the case will go to the higher courts.

CAMP TUXEDO.

Yesterday was visitors' day at Camp Tuxedo, 6½ miles west of the city, where the Episcopal Choir are in camp. Members of the church and the Sunday school to the number of 150 or more went out in buggies and carriages and gave a big dinner to the campers. The boys and girls of the choir are all well and enjoying camp life. A number of the boys undertook to smoke a coon out of a hollow tree. The tree caught fire and great excitement reigned for awhile. They all rushed for the tents to pack their outfit, expecting the entire woods to be consumed. The tree, a very large one, burned through the trunk and fell with a crash, and they soon had the fire under control. The boys, with one or two exceptions, are poisoned from going in swimming, but they don't mind that.

Runaway.

A team of ponies driven by a Mr. Barnett, created a little sensation on East William street this afternoon. The horses were attached to a carriage in which was seated Mr. Barnett, two ladies and a small boy. At the Broadway crossing the neckyoke snapped and the ponies at once started to raise a commotion. The driver managed to run the carriage over the coping of the paved street and against a fence, where the horses were caught. Horses and carriage were unhurt, and the ladies escaped with nothing more serious than a bad fright.
